Once upon a time, there were three little pigs who wanted to live in their own homes. Together they went looking for houses.

3.

The first little pig saw a house of straw. He thought that it would be very easy and quick to build. So he did.

The second little pig saw a house of sticks and he thought, "That's for me!" It, too, was easy to build. In no time at all, the two little pigs had built their homes. They were then free to play, sing and dance together.

The last little pig built a house of bricks. It took a long time to build, but he knew that it was very strong. It would keep him safe.

The first little pig saw a wolf coming towards him, so he ran into his house. The wolf followed him and blew the house down. Luckily, the first little pig made it to the second little pig's house. The wolf followed him again. This time he blew a bit harder and the stick house blew down too.

The pigs escaped just in time. Now they all hid inside the brick house. But again the wolf followed them. He tried to blow the brick house down but he couldn't.

The wolf decided to go down the chimney. Luckily the pigs were ready for him. They had a pot of boiling water in the fireplace. When the wolf came down he made a big splash and that was the end of him.

Soon afterwards, the pigs built two more brick houses. They all lived happily ever after.
