Thanksgiving

The first English settlers, known as the Pilgrims, arrived in the American continent in 1620. After a difficult winter, in 1621, they had a successful harvest of corn and other crops thanks to the help of Native Americans from the Wampanoag tribe. In gratitude, the Pilgrims celebrated a great feast to give thanks for the good harvest and the assistance received. President George Washington proclaimed November 26, 1789, as a national day of Thanksgiving . Nowadays, Thanksgiving is one of the most important and widely celebrated holidays in the United States. In addition to the traditional dinner, families and friends gather, watch parades, play football games, and express gratitude for the blessings received.
